

Farming Today

Today, farmers use large machines to help grow and harvest the food that feeds people all over the world.

